Welcome to Centre for Languages and Human Development

CLHD is a centre committed to the development of Human Technology Interaction which is one of the four core focus areas of the University. Thus, PBPI supports the Advanced Manufacturing Technology niche, a strategic focus of the University. It has been the University’s vision to be one of the leading technical universities in the world. In this respect, the Dean has spelt out a strategic-focused transformation direction for the Centre. There are four departments at the Centre for Languages and Human Development (CLHD), namely the Department of Languages, Department of Human Development, Department of Islamic Studies and Humanities and Department of Co-curriculum Education. CLHD plays an important role in educating future professionals and intellectuals to be competent in communication , critical thinking and problem-solving, entrepreneurship as well as leadership and teamwork. CLHD is also responsible for producing graduates with self esteem , integrity, moral values and ICT literacy for life-long learning.CLHD, by emphasizing soft skills among the students, is able to help and support the engineering faculties in employing a curriculum in terms of breadth and depth to increase the marketability of the graduates. This Centre also employs the outcome-based education (OBE) approach in producing balanced individuals who possess physical, emotional, spiritual, intellectual and social attributes. The academic and support staff of CLHD embrace universal values and adhere to the motto; “ Accomplishing Human Capital of Excellence”. From the Dean's Desk